Nothing much could be learned of the details of the program arranged by Jack Greely in honor of Loren Marriott, retiring president of the Lions Club, at Linda Vista Park on Tuesday night. From the 125 present, including Niles Rotarians and guests, only meagre reports could be gleaned. Tom Silva who wore his star but was off the record said he didn't want to be quoted and Cheri Dubois, specialty dancer, got away before she could be interviewed.

Among the unimportant facts picked up about the party were those relating to the baseball game which ended in an 8-8 tie. One side or the other was on the verge of winning, nobody seemed to remember which, but Lawrence Sharpe took a base on a foul and refused to retreat. Fred Rogers, it is alleged came to grief when acting as referee in the boxing ring, the Freitas brothers, 1935-36 Golden Gloves champions got mixed up and slugged the referee instead of their respective opponents.

Gene Gratton of San Jose State College brought up some wrestlers, Bob Vail of Calvada was master of ceremonies, Eddie Roper of the San Francisco Olympic Club gave vocal numbers and Ben Mozzetti, Jr., played accordion solos. Outside of that, it must have been a slow party! Loren went out like a lamb, having come in like a—oh, well, skip it!

State Controller Harry B. Riley has completed the annual count of noses in Alameda Co. and estimates an increase of 125,117 persons since the 1930 census. His figures show the county's population rose from 474,883 in 1930 to 600,000 last year which, if the figures are substantiated, is an increase of 26.34 percent.

In the state, Riley estimates an increase of nearly 19 percent with the population jumping from 5,677,251 in 1930 to a new high of 6,753,983 in 1938.

Decoto Civic Body Against Extension Of Sanitary District

DECOTO — Recommendation that no additional territory be annexed to the Decoto Sanitary System for the next five years was made by the Decoto Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting. Peter Decoto, president of the chamber, had expressed opposition to the annexation of certain portions of Niles at a recent mass meeting.

It was suggested that the new $100,000 system be given a chance to prove itself before adding any additional service.

Residents of Niles north of the California Nursery and along the main highway recently petitioned to be annexed to the Decoto sanitary system. This annexation was recommended by Harold Gray, consulting engineer on the grounds that it would decrease operating expenses, inasmuch as the territory seeking service is about one half the size of the Decoto district.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce expressing the above recommendation is expected to be read at the next meeting of the sanitary commission on July 5, according to J. P. Caldeira, chairman. The final decision rests with the commission, who if they approve the idea of the annexation could consent to a special election and the matter decided by vote.

Tragedy Rides Highway at North Entrance to Niles as 2 Killed, One Hurt in Crash

NILES — One of the most spectacular accidents ever witnessed in Niles ended in the tragic death of two men and the critical injury of another at the entrance to the north underpass at Niles in front of the Hotel Belvoir about 9:45 Monday morning.

The dead are John G. Duarte, 72, retired rancher and resident of this community for more than 50 years and Lowell Ellison, 45, of San Jose, driver of the huge truck and trailer which crashed into a light sedan driven by James E. "Dad" Griffith, now in the Fairmont hospital with slight hopes of recovery.

The truck, carrying 6500 gallons of gasoline after hitting the sedan, crashed into the clay bank at the entrance of the hotel driveway, jack-knifing and demolishing the truck body and the first tank. The trailer tank was not overturned but was punctured so that a large stream of gasoline poured onto the highway for more than two hours after the impact.

Danger of fire was heightened when a car driven by Mrs. Kari von Hacht of 2316 Edwards Street, Berkeley, enroute to Carmel with five children, caught on fire as it passed the accident. Mrs. Von Hacht's presence of mind probably prevented a greater tragedy as she proceeded on through the underpass and stopped the car at the "y" of the road and First Street, even though she knew the rear of her car was ablaze.

Two bicycles strapped on to the back of the car had been wrapped in blankets which caught fire from the exhaust pipe. The bicycles were destroyed but no other damage done. The Niles fire department stationed at the truck accident followed Mrs. Von Hacht's car and extinguished the fire.

Judge J. A. Silva was driving several hundred yards behind the truck. Suddenly it swerved to the left and a car swirled to the right just beyond the underpass and the main highway intersection. Due to the curve in the road, he could not tell whether the car had stopped at the boulevard stop sign, Judge Silva said. Duarte was lying on the road when Judge Silva reached the wreck and Griffith was hanging from the car with his head resting on the pavement.

Judge Silva called to a passing motorist for help and other passersby took the crushed body of Ellison from the truck. Crowds numbering several hundred gathered quickly and a rope was stretched to keep the curious off the highway. Deputy Sheriffs Henry Vervais and O. W. Ebright were joined by others from the sheriff's office and the California State Highway Patrol. The highway was blocaded until late Monday evening because of the quantity of gasoline that had been spilled.

The bodies of the dead were taken to the Berge Mortuary where autopsies by Drs. E. C. Dawson and W. L. McWhirter indicated death was due to hemorrhage from internal injuries. Griffith was taken to the Fairmont Hospital in the Chapel of the Palms ambulance after first aid by Dr. E. C. Dawson who was called to the scene.

Duarte is survived by his widow, Mary, and five step-children: Mrs. Jack Cahill, Mrs. Troy Taylor, Mrs. William Pine of Niles, Mrs. G. C. Monroe of 5456 Ruth ave., Oakland and Joe Perry of Alameda; two brothers, John G. Duarte of the Niles-Hayward highway, Frank G. Duarte of Mission Road and a sister, Mrs. Joaquin Fields of 2nd Street, Niles. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Berge Mortuary.

Ellison, driver of the truck, is survived by a wife and three children in San Jose.

Griffith, who retired as tower man for the Western Pacific last September, resides with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lililan Griffith, and two grandchildren, Vivian and Cecil. Members of the family said he left to take Duarte to his home shortly before the accident.

FUNERALS HELD FOR VICTIMS OF CRASH

Lowell Ellison's body left for Fresno yesterday morning where services were to be held. Interment was at the ecmetery at Selma. His family resides at 681 N. San Pedro st., San Jose.

James E. Griffith is in the Merritt Hospital where he is said to be recovering.

Supervisors Order Annexation To Fire Protection District

NILES — The long battle of the fire commissioners and interested citizens to increase the size of the Niles fire protection district to the boundaries of the school district came to an end this week when the Alameda County Board of Supervisors unanimously passed a resolution presented by the District Attorney's office for the annexation of territory south of Alameda Creek and north of the present district.

Only one protest was received, it was reported here, and that via telephone. The majority of the residents residing south of the creek had petitioned for the annexation.

The move will decrease the fire tax to approximately 10 cents, commissioners state. No additional expense is anticipated to serve the new district with the exception of the installation of more hydrants. The fire hall, two engines and equipment are paid for.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

In a world where people of many nations have lost their right to live, worship, and think, as free men, the Fourth of July gives America good cause for celebrating the day she broke the shackles binding her to the Old World and set a new course for herself.

The Declaration of Independence, through more than a century and a half, has set up as the goal of government the preservation of a right which underlies all others, the pursuit of happiness.

Yet if these phrases, pursuit of happiness, freedom of worship, and liberty, have worn smooth with usage we have only to look abroad to see, with terrible clearness, what follows when they disappear. The destruction of individual liberties has stalked, people have been uprooted from their homeland and loved ones, political opponents have been slaughtered before firing squads, and pillage and mob violence have risen up where freedom has been extinguished and where men's hearts have been inflamed with hate.

The rights of man which the Declaration of Independence championed with such moving eloquence, though endangered or extinguished in other lands, remain the touchstone of America's way of life. Few other nations have dedicated themselves to the pursuit of so high an ideal, and no other, in the hard compromises which idealism must make with practical necessity, has come so close to making its ideal a reality.

As in 1776 America declared its independence of Old World monarchy, so in 1939 the United States declares its independence of Old World philosophies which exalt the state and enslave its subjects.

America has good reason to call her Independence Day the Glorious Fourth!

TIN LIZZIES WILL GO INTO ACTION AT RODEO TRACK

LIVERMORE — Thrills, spills action, speed—and laughs—is the schedule for the Tin Lizzie Races to be presented by Livermore Aerie, Eagles, at the Livermore Rodeo Grounds Sunday afternoon, first presentation of motordom's wildest racing thrill in the bay district.

They call them "jitterbugs" and the name fits the actions of these fast but erratic Model T racers as they skid around the turn and roar down the straight aways, losing wheels, radiators blowing up tangling and untangling in one clash after another.

Nearly two score jallopies, Model T cars stripped to motor, driver's seat, and running gear, will romp around the quarter mile flat dirt track in 100 miles of racing four 25 mile spurts. Entries will be divided into three groups for a trio of heats, with the four winners in each to go into the final jaunt.

PORTRAIT OF A PAYING PASSENGER
(She's El Dorado Fed)

Some cows are "free riders"—they seem to eat plenty, but when the cream-checks are added up, they haven't paid their way.

But cows fed with El Dorado Coconut Meal (20% to 40% of the ration) are "paying passengers." Experts have a lot of reasons for this—not only the amount but also the kind of proteins—and so on—but the thing that counts is whether or not the herd is profitable, and each cow in it.

And El Dorado-fed herds have a record of being profitable! It's the "plus" that makes ordinary cows into "paying passengers"!

El Dorado pours hundreds of thousands of dollars a year into the coffers of California agriculture, through its purchases of California flax and peanuts—industries pioneered and fostered by El Dorado. So your purchases of El Dorado Feed Concentrates recognize this aid to farming in California.
